

Question: The settings on the document(s) reflect: "Printing not allowed; content copying not allowed; page extraction not allowed; etc., etc. "

This does not allow for us to have the documents locally for viewing or reviewing. The 'Material Destruction Statement' reflects "including copies of such material" will be destroyed within 30 days from date of award. By not having these documents locally impedes the review and RFQ response process. This makes the review and analysis processes very cumbersome. Please provide the ability to download and save these documents, in the spirit of the RFQ response process and in consideration of the 'Material Destruction Statement' we all signed.

Answer: By design, we don't want vendors to be able to print entire documents. This was recommended by security personnel. For important snippets of information you can when using Windows, however, press "Print Screen" and then paste the screen capture into PowerPoint ... and then print. See attached example.

This capability is allowed. Hence the "Material Destruction Statement" reflecting "including copies of such material".
